

Annebeth Rosenboom

Annebeth Rosenboom is Chief of the Treaty Section of the Office of Legal Affairs of the United Nations since February 2007. She is a lawyer as well as a librarian and worked at the Netherlands Institute of International Relations, Clingendael, and the United Nations in the 1980s. Before re-joining the United Nations, she was a publisher during twenty years at Martinus Nijhoff Publishers (the Netherlands), specifically in the areas of international public law, international institutional law and law of the sea.