Essence of the Unified Web Platform

The platform is an information technology tool that allows you to create countless homepages or websites. It offers up-to-date and easy-to-use homepages of government entities and local governments, which are developed according uniform principles. Joining this platform means that digital communication in the public administration is ensured at a different level through which you can interact more effectively with a customer – citizen.

Prototype of new websites

The institutions, ministries and local governments involved in the Unified Web Platform project are divided into three groups, respectively. For each of the website groups, a single structure has been established during the project, including mandatory content blocks and structural elements that will be visible on all websites. The objective of homepage structuring was and will be to make it easier for users to search for information on the websites.
